Community Food Security & School Children Nutrition Supporting

Description

- Food insecurity remains a major driver of school dropouts among vulnerable rural families. During lean harvest seasons, parents are often forced to withdraw children from school to assist in daily survival. The Community Food Security & School Children Nutrition Supporting Initiative addresses this challenge through two core pillars:
- Household Food Security & Income generation to support their children to school: Provides emergency rice investment with seed money during lean months to protect families from hunger, while acting as an economic buffer that allows families to reinvest savings into micro-livelihoods.
- Daily School Breakfast & Study Concentration: Supplies daily breakfast for school children, improving nutrition, study focus, and school retention.

Your Impact

- Primary Goal: Establish a functional, community-managed Rice seed money supporting 10 to 15 highly vulnerable families with children at severe risk of dropping out of school due to food shortages.
- Your gift of $3,500 fully funds one complete Community Food Security & School Children Nutrition Supporting project — providing immediate food security for families and daily nutrition for school children.
- What makes this investment truly lasting is community ownership. A trained local committee takes responsibility for managing the rice reserve, ensuring self-sustainability and educational support for years to come.
